CAUTION.

IN CHRONIC and long lasting cases of the SCROFULOUS disorder, the patient must follow the directions strictly, and continue the use of the ALTERNATIVE until all traces of the disease have disappeared. Even when no disorder appears, the ALTERNATIVE should be taken to disprove the old adage, "If it aches, it needs a rub." It is the only medicine that cures both the ADULTS and the LADIES AND CHILDREN. IS THE ONLY CURE FOR THE YEAR.

After Florida Oranges.
A New York captain named Curtin, a few years ago, ran a cargo of Yankee oranges down to St. Augustine, Florida. He got rid of his cargo, but was unable to secure any return freight. In this dilemma he heard of the Indian river, a perfect paradise. Florida is the garden of the world, and the only wonder to me is that every foot of the land is not under cultivation. I could live and be here as happy as a king.

Pickpocket's Joke.
An amusing instance of the inability of the public to distinguish an honest man from a thief, happened some time since on the Florida railroad. A thief, who had been picking pockets for twenty years, and who is at present serving out a sentence in the State prison, was a volunteer for every week so extensively as to arouse the indignation of the travelers on the road. Some of the victims had expressed the determination to flag and take and feather the first pickpocket captured. About this time the thief was "caught" for stealing a large amount of goods from a gentleman on a Brooklyn ferry boat, and a detective was sent to Portland to arrest him. He secured his man, and started for home. They arrived at the station, and the thief, who had been picked up by a detective, was taken to the police station.
